Bowden Board of Trade Meeting

A meeting of the Bowden Board of Trade was held in McCue's hall on Friday evening last, April 26th, with President Hunter in the chair.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and approved.

By-law committee presented their report on new by-laws, same was adopted with one amendment to the effect that vacancies in the executive shall be filled by election of the Board, instead of appointed by executive. Report adopted on motion of Messrs. Chamberlain and Richardson.

Messrs. Rutledge and Powell were then elected to act on the executive committee.

A communication was read from W. T. Anderson, M. D. of Winnipeg regarding location for a doctor. Mr. Merrin reported having wired him to come. On motion it was decided that the president meet him if he comes, and render all assistance he can.

Finance committee reported having opened a subscription list for advertising purposes and meeting with good success. On motion a vote of thanks was tendered them for their work.

Moved by Messrs. Richardson and Rutledge that the secretary write the village Council, drawing attention to the defective culvert south-east of the town, near the school, and ask them to repair it.

The executive was instructed to take up the matter of crossings to the station; also try and find out what opportunity there is of getting some portion of the Provincial and Dominion appropriation for roads spent in the Bowden district.

Mr. Richardson reported for advertising committee, making suggestions for advertising the Bowden district.

It was suggested that suitable matter be printed on the back of notepaper, and placing ads. in certain publications. Report referred to executive, who were also instructed to consider advertising for a doctor, in the event of Mr. Anderson failing to come.

Mr. Diehl brought up the matter of the 24th of May celebration.

Moved by Messrs. Teeling and Howard that the Board be requested to appoint a committee to meet the executive and discuss the matter with them.

The meeting then adjourned.

Council Meeting

The usual monthly meeting of the village Council was held in the Secretary's office on Monday 29 April 1912.

Present Councillors Huff, McLean and Bernard.

On motion by Coun. McLean and Bernard minutes of former meeting were duly approved.

A lengthy discussion ensued relative to erection of new fire hall. Specifications for same having been supplied by Mr. Johnston, which after some minor alterations were duly approved and on motion by Councillors McLean and Huff it was agreed that tenders for the supplying of material and labor necessary for erection and completion of building in accordance with specifications supplied, tenders to be in hands of secretary by 15th May, it being understood the Council would not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

The secretary presented the Assessment Roll which on motion by Councillors McLean and Bernard was duly accepted and Court of Revision set for the 15th May.

It was agreed on motion by Councillors Bernard and Huff that the culvert near school-house be reinforced.

On motion by Councillors Bernard and McLean it was agreed that the usual donation of ten dollars be made to Bond, Treasurer being authorized to pay same.

A Few Remarks

It may seem rather early in the year to approach the Council and citizens of Bowden on matters concerning the town, yet, we might say, better early than not at all.

The notice that since the frost has left the ground nothing has been done in regards to the leveling of the streets, it would be advisable to have this remedied by going over the streets with a drag. This would not merely crush the hard lumps which have accumulated during the winter, but would with the aid of a plow and disc help to till in holes on the streets. This would, we think be a betterment for all concerned and give a far better impression to the farmer and travelling public who so often visit our village.

Another item worthy of mention, concerning the welfare of the town would be the planting of trees on the streets which gives every small village an appearance of beauty; Perhaps this would be a little out of the question to spring upon our worthy council, yet, if this cannot be accomplished each citizen could by planting trees on his own property, greatly help along with the beautifying of our village. This would not only give a good impression to the residents of the village, but to people passing by on the trains.

Often times a good remark dropped by a traveller, of different towns has led to the enquiry of its whereabouts, etc., thus causing the out rush of many a settler.

Now we might say dear citizens, wake up! Get together, work as one and aid in the bettering of our town and district. Especially if we are to expect our town to come to the front.

We might add that of late a Board of Trade has been formed by the enthusiastic citizens to take hold of all matters. Yet a reminder is not amiss on various occasions.

After a three years stay in Bowden, the Rev W. M. Chalmers, the late Presbyterian Minister, left on Wednesday for Canmore, where he has accepted a call. During his stay in this district he has been very popular with all denominations. As a preacher he has been very successful; his sermons have been above the usual mediocrity. In moral reform work he has been closely identified. He was the secretary treasurer to the local branch of the Moral and Temperance Reform League.

DAD

HERE'S TO YOU!

We happened in a home the other night, and over the parlor door saw the legend worked in letters of red: "What is Home without a Mother?" Across the room was another brief: "God bless our Home."

Now, what's the matter with "GOD BLESS OUR DAD!" He gets up early, lights the fire, boils an egg, wipes off the dew of the lawn with his boots while many a mother is sleeping. He makes the weekly hand-out for the butcher, the grocer, the milkman and the baker, and his little pile is badly worn before he has been home an hour.

If there is a noise in the night Dad is kicked in the back and made to go down stairs and find the burglar and kill him. Mother darns the socks, but Dad bought the socks in the first place; and the needle and yarn afterwards. Mother does up the fruit; Dad bought it all, and jars and sugar cost like the mischief.

Dad buys the chickens for Sunday dinner and serves them himself and draws the neck from the ruins after everyone else has been served.

"What is home without a mother?" Yes, that's all right; but WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A FATHER? Ten chances to one it's a boarding house. Father is under the sod, and the landlady is a widow. Dad here's to you—you have got your faults—you may have lots of them—but you are all right, and we will miss you when you are gone.

Harry became pale with anger.
"Do you know the lady?" he asked.
"Rather!" the young man returned with a nod and a wink as he leaped back to his place by the driver of the dogcart. "Take my tip. The next time I meet you it may be in a very different character, and you may possibly have reason to regret that you were quite so stand-off. Ta-ta!"

He had stared impudently straight into Harry's face as he had spoken of Lady Anne, and suddenly it flashed across the young American that the fellow's brilliant dark-grey eyes, deep-set under straight black eyebrows and rather near together, bore a marked resemblance to the eyes of the fascinating grey-bearded foreigner in the Bloxham train, who had called himself "Leopold Sarto."

He stood staring after the dogcart as it disappeared in a cloud of dust, while he assured himself that the likeness must be accidental. The traveller in the train appeared to be about forty years of age; this man, on the other hand, seemed under thirty. Leopold Sarto was a foreigner, and his manners had a singular charm, whereas Harry's recent companion had something bumptious and aggressive in his bearing. The callousness he had shown when he had shot at the farm idiot after locking him in the cupboard disgusted Harry. He felt curious to know what account of his wound Sammy would give to Mrs. Anning and to his protectors, Mr. Warne and Lady Anne Daubney.

And then, his thoughts having brought him round to Lady Anne again, he dismissed all other subjects from his mind.

He felt almost glad as he made his way among the laurel trees, the firs and pines and young oaks of the plantation, in the semi-darkness of their overreaching branches, to think of the lively French girl whom he had left at the Abbey gates a few hours before. He hoped that Lady Anne would keep her. She would at least bring a little life and youth into that melancholy place among the elderly foreign women-servants, Anning, the gardener, and Grammer Jessop's "wold man" Stephen Jessop, whom she had called the "master of Dolders."

Harry resented the term, and the notion that his queenly Lady Anne should be tyrannised over by an aged, paralysed steward, husband of the peasant woman at the gatehouse. He was still lost in wondering surmises as to this point and the identity of the figure tracking them through the cloisters, when, at a turn in the path, he came upon the beautiful vision of the lakes, or, as they were called locally, "Lyllyngton fish-ponds."

They lay vast and stirless, shining under the summer sun, and diversified by little islands upon which copper beeches and willows and flowering acacia trees were planted. Wa-

Leg Like Raw Flesh from Knee Down

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had advised me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuticura Remedies first." He said, "try them if you like but I do not think they will do any good." At this time my leg was peeled from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches.

"I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuticura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuticura had cured me and said that he would use Cuticura for his own patients. But for the Cuticura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuticura wrought and I always recommend it most highly as a sure and economical cure for skin troubles." (Signed) Mme. J. B. Renaud, 277 Mentana St., Montreal.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the speediest and most economical treatment for skin and scalp humours. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book, send to Fetter D. & C. Corn., 49 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

ter-lillies in profusion, the great white flowers and the stout yellow buds, were there, and a few clumps of the rarer lotus in purple and in pink; flowering reeds and tall bulrushes, with masses of forget-me-nots and meadow-sweet blossoms clustered at the water's edge, and on the further side of the lakes the background of trees was broken by boathouses and garden-seats of marble in a classic design.

Not far from where he stood, enraptured by the beauty of the scene, a punt was being propelled by a broad-built youth in his shirt sleeves. Facing him on the cushions sat a handsome, rosy-cheeked young woman, and by her side, dragging his hand through the water, nestled a little yellow-haired boy of striking prettiness.

The boat-load gave just the human touch of youth and comeliness required to complete the scene. But even while Harry's eyes were upon it, the charming effect was changed to one of tragic import. The child, fascinated by the sight of a lily bud, stretched both hands eagerly out of the punt. His companions were too much occupied in their talk to notice him, and in an instant he had fallen over into the water.

The young woman sprang up, shrieking loudly.

"For God's sake, jump in and save him, William," she cried to the young man. "Are you going to let my nephew drown before my eyes? He has gone down again! Teddy, Teddy, my darling, catch at my hands! William, you must jump in, or I will never forgive you!"

"I cannot swim, Susan," the young man returned distractedly. "There'd be two drowned if I wuz to jump. An' w' all these weeds, too! Cassen hold thik pole, Edwin! Dunnot jump, Susan, or thee'll upset the boat!"

Long before the young couple had reached this point in their excited shouting, Harry had slipped off his coat and boots and sprung into the water. He was a champion swimmer, but the masses of water plants made progress difficult and even dangerous, and he had to dive twice before he at length brought to the surface the little figure of the child.

"Land the punt at once!" he called to the young man, as he scrambled with difficulty on to the boat after delivering the boy into his aunt's arms. "And now give me the child."

The small face looked pinched and livid, but Harry could feel a feeble flutter of the heart, and began at once working to bring back respiration, moving the child's arms backward and forward, while Susan, weeping bitterly, endeavoured to warm his feet. William, feeling shame-faced before the stranger's exploits, did his best to bring the boat quickly to land, and hurried merrily to put the horse and cart to, by Susan's orders

"Do you live at Loders Abbey?" asked Harry; "because you must not drive there until the boy has revived more thoroughly. You must take him to this village here and wrap him in hot blankets and give him a little brandy. I will come with you and see you through it."

"Oh, sir, I can't thank you enough!" protested the still sobbing Susan. "I'd never have dared to face Grammer again if anything had happened to my little nephew. He's such a pet; the dearest little fellow in the world. Everybody loves him—except Lady Anne."

The last words struck Harry oddly. It would be difficult for a woman, he would have thought, to avoid loving this gold-haired, delicate-featured child, with eyes as blue as those of his aunt Susan Jessop, who was now clutching him to her breast in a motherly way. Harry himself was extraordinarily fond of children for a young man, and intensely patient and the proceedings at the cottage of William Hoby's mother, to which they were driven, and set Mrs. Hoby and Susan warming blankets and stirring up the fire and preparing gruel and brandy for little Edwin, until finally a faint rose colour came back into the child's cheeks and his lips parted in a smile.

"Now we must get back quickly to the Abbey," Susan said. "Lady Anne has gone to Dorchester to get a nice, respectable old servant instead of that new French hussy, whom she can't abide. I want to be home first, for she might chance to ask after our Teddy in passing through the lodge gates—though she hates the very sight of the poor child."

CHAPTER XVII.

The Forbidden Room.
No one is more obstinate than a man in love.

Lady Anne was already trying to get rid of her pretty young French servant who had come to join her mother, and she actually "hated the sight" of the most inoffensive, sweet little child it was possible to imagine!

But Harry sternly told himself that all this was mere "servants' gossip," and went on mentally worshipping at the shrine he had raised to Lady Anne.

No ghostly hands troubled his rest that night, though he was ready and waiting for them with his electric light and his pistol under his pillow.

He did not tell Mrs. Anning of his experience of the preceding night, or her husband either. He had an instinctive feeling that the wife would know nothing, and that the husband would tell nothing. But he had learned from her that "Soft Sammy" had not been seen at the farm since the afternoon of Harry's first visit to Lyllyngton, and decided that the idiot was probably nursing his wound elsewhere.

He made a point of asking that Lady Anne's blue and grey jug might be placed before him at every meal, and during his breakfast he drew valuable Mrs. Anning on the subject dearest to him.

NERVOUS DISEASES IN THE SPRING

Cured by Toning the Blood And Strengthening the Nerves.

It is the opinion of the best medical authorities, after long observation, that nervous diseases are more common and more serious in the spring than at any other time of the year. Vital changes in the system, after long winter months, may cause much more trouble than the familiar spring weakness and weariness from which most people suffer as the result of indoor life, in poorly ventilated and often overheated buildings. Official records prove that in April and May neuralgia, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy and other forms of nerve troubles are at their worst, and that then, more than any other time, a blood-making, nerve-restoring tonic is needed.

The antiquated custom of taking purgatives in the spring is useless, for the system really needs strengthening, while purgatives only gall up the bowels, leaving you weaker. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine, for they actually make the new, rich, red blood that feeds the starved nerves, and thus cure the many forms of nervous disorders. They cure also such other forms of spring troubles as headaches, poor appetite, weakness in the limbs, as well as remove unsightly pimples and eruptions. In fact they unfailingly bring new health and strength to weak, tired and depressed men, women and children.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A commercial traveller at a railway restaurant in one of our southern towns included, in his order for breakfast, two boiled eggs. The old darky who served him brought three.

"Uncle" said the travelling man, "why in the world did you bring me three boiled eggs? I only ordered two."

"Yes, sir," said the old darky, bowing and smiling. "I know you'd order two, sir, but I brought three, because I just naturally felt dat if dem might fall you, sir."—Harper's Weekly

A Wonderful Discovery

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delormier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Co. and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

The Word "Strike."

The earliest use of the word "strike" in the sense of stopping work occurs in London Chronicle for September, 1765, in connection with a coal strike. This publication reports a great suspension of labor in the Northumberland coalfields, and the colliers are stated to have "struck out" for a higher bounty before entering into their usual yearly "bond." The time-honored illustration of profitless labor, "carrying coals to Newcastle," appears to have received its first slap in the face during this strike. The Chronicle reports that "several pokes of coal were brought from Durham to Newcastle by one of the common carriers, and sold on the sandhill for 9d a poke, by which he cleared 6d a poke."—London Chronicle.

MOTHER OF LARGE FAMILY

Tells How She Keeps Her Health—Happiness For Those Who Take Her Advice.

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and am the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pains for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house."

"I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has helped her."

"I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 8.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for woman's ills known.

Turkish Women at the Theatre.

A notice which is to be seen in one of the theatres of Constantinople effectively solves the problem of people at the back obtaining a clear view and is very much more radical than the polite request made in English and French theatres that ladies should not mar the view of the stage with wide hats.

The notice reads: "In order to render the performance agreeable to all those present the management of the theatre has decided that the spectators of the first three rows should recline, those of the next three rows be on their knees and all the others be standing up. In that way everybody will be able to enjoy the play."

This notice is followed by a suggestion implying the Turkish woman's lack of romance: "It is strictly forbidden to laugh, for it is a tragedy which they are able to instill in the public, would be careful before expressing their views on any subject publicly."

It will be conceded that all parts of our North-West are not equally suitable for mixed farming. The greater part of the North-West, however, is entirely suitable to raising of cattle, hogs, and horses.

At the outset, it might be pointed out that this year, while the amount of grain shipped from Southern Alberta, which is almost wholly grain raising, has been five times as much as it was last year, the credit in that section of the country is not as good as it is in Northern Alberta, where mixed farming is the rule.

Ever since the railways first penetrated the West, the people have shouted every fall for cars to ship out the grain, but notwithstanding that thousands of miles of railways have been built, no greater proportion of grain has been shipped out before the close of navigation than in earlier years.

It would seem that no matter what is done, the most that can ever be expected is that sixty per cent. of the wheat crop will be shipped before the close of navigation, and the amount that will be shipped from the close to the opening of the severity of the weather, which, as we know, is very uncertain.

But, assuming that the railways were built to transport the grain as fast as it could be marketed, is excessive grain growing best for the farmer and for the country? The history of the world shows that land cannot be cropped continuously without destroying its fertility, and that after a time the vitality of the soil has to be restored through fertilizers. The amount of money spent in Europe and elsewhere for fertilizers of all kinds reaches a tremendous sum.

We know that the average number of bushels of grain raised per acre in the United States has steadily dropped off. We also know that in the older parts of Manitoba the average number of bushels of grain raised per acre is steadily diminishing, and we all realize that it will be but a comparatively short time when the same thing will happen in the newer portions of the North-West.

We must not only look to the present, but to the future. A God-fearing man who is tilling the soil looks to the time when he will be succeeded by his children, and he should preserve to these children their birthright, instead of wasting it.

If it not a shame when we go through the country in the fall, to find our whole North-West lighted up at night from burning straw, straw that might be used to feed cattle, which would bring a handsome return to their owner.

We must recognise the fact that more or less capital is required to ensure success in the dairy industry. Borrowing money at 10 to 25 per cent. is out of the question.

The Government ought to establish farmers' banks, where farmers could get loans to buy cattle, erect buildings on the most modern principles in which to house them, said loans to bear a low rate of interest, say at four or five per cent, repayable in four or five years.

stallments running over a number of years, secured on the stock purchased, and the buildings erected by the money borrowed. The Government ought also to appoint thoroughly qualified men to superintend the erection of the buildings, and teach the farmers how to make butter and cheese on the most approved principles. The marketing of the produce should be done by men appointed by the Government, who know all about the market, and the value of dairy products, so that farmers may get full value for their products.

This plan was adopted in Denmark many years ago, and is in operation to-day. Follow out this scheme and the farmers would have money in the bank all the year round and would pay cash for everything they needed, and get a substantial discount on their purchases.

It would be a wise expenditure if the Government were to import the best breeds of dairy cattle, and establish a dairy farm as an object lesson to the dairymen. The increase of the herd could be sold to the proprietors of private dairy farms, at a reasonable price.

Forty years ago Denmark butter was unknown in England; but at the present time it is acknowledged to be of the best quality, commands the highest price and is in great demand.

Those who prefer the factory system could unite and establish creameries and cheese factories on the same principles and operate them in the same way.

The benefits resulting from dairy farming would be manifest on every acre of farm. It would increase the fertility of the soil, and there is no branch of the farmers calling that would give better returns on the capital and labor invested. The breeding and fattening of hogs in connection with the dairy industry would also be a source of large revenues.

In addition to loaning money to farmers and dairymen, the Government should furnish capital to assist in the erection and equipment of flour mills, beef and pork packing houses, beet sugar factories, and other organized industries to help farmers to dispose of their products in a concentrated form. By this means, farmers would be encouraged to grow less wheat and direct their attention to other branches of agriculture.

Finally, the establishment of dairy industries would lessen the acreage devoted to wheat raising, and thus reduce the pressure on the transportation companies, and tend to prevent such a wheat blockade as the western farmer is now suffering from.

May Adopt The Metric System.

The civilized world has only one unit of measurement in common-time. The second is based upon a 60th part of a 60th part of a 24th part of the time it takes the earth to revolve. Other weights and measure systems vary. However, it now has been proposed that this country shall adopt the metric system, which was invented in France. It has for its basic unit the meter, a fraction of the distance from the earth's equator to the pole.

C.P.R. CALGARY SHOPS

Great Car Shops to be Erected by the C.P.R. at Calgary, to be Known as The Ogden Shops.

The great car shops which the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. is erecting near Calgary, Alberta, will rank among the biggest undertakings of Canada's great transcontinental road. They are happily named the "Ogden Shops" in honor of Mr. I. G. Ogden, one of the vice-presidents of the company, and the town which will grow up around them is also to be called Ogden. The shops are of course, to be of the most modern construction and equipment, and will consist of a group of twenty buildings, and occupy an area of 120 acres of land, the locomotive works alone covering from six to eight acres. The Ogden shops are intended by the C.P.R. to provide for the repairs to equipment on its western lines. That they will have plenty of work to do is evidenced from the fact that the Canadian Pacific Railway makes it a point to completely overhaul its rolling stock at least once a year. This company does this so that its' equipment may always be in the highest possible state of efficiency. A few years ago the Angus shops at Montreal and the shops at Winnipeg were sufficient for this work, but the C. & P.R.'s equipment has increased so greatly within last few years, that the Ogden shops are a necessity. Between two and three thousand men will be employed, and they will be systematically housed on a modern plan that will make the town of Ogden one of the world's model hives of industry and an ideal residential place for the workingman.

The naming of the shops after Mr. Ogden is a particularly happy choice by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, for that gentleman is one of the real old guard of the C.P.R., a veteran indeed, having for thirty-one years given the best of his talents to the company's service.

A New Yorker by birth, belonging to a family of financiers, his forefathers having been bankers, Mr. Ogden has spent the larger portion of his busy life in the finance departments of railways. In 1871 he became paymaster and accountant of the Chicago & Pacific Railway and five years later was auditor of that company. The high reputation he gained with the C. & P.R. attracted attention towards him, and at the birth of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in 1881 he was selected to take charge of the finances of the western division of the road, with headquarters at Winnipeg. Two years excellent work in the west was followed by his promotion to the position of chief auditor of the entire system, the higher title of controller being bestowed upon him in 1887. Other honors quickly followed, and in 1901 he was made vice-president of the Company, having naturally the finances of the large corporation particularly under his charge.

During all these years Mr. Ogden displayed rare financial ability and acumen, and in the struggling days of the company—and there were not a few of them in the eighties and the early nineties—his advice and knowledge materially aided in tiding the C.P.R. over many a financial difficulty. His work, indeed, would form a large part of the history of the C. P. R.

In having the Company's huge works at the foothills of the Canadian Rockies named after him, Mr. Ogden is paid a justly deserved tribute—a tribute none the less to his many excellent qualities of head and heart than to his great financial genius and to his long years of loyalty and faithfulness to the great corporation with which he has been associated from its infancy, and with which he has grown to see it take the foremost place amongst the great transportation companies of the world.

When Oranges Were Taboo in Holland.

Oranges were for some years a prohibited fruit in Holland. When the Batavian republic was established the badge and color of the Stadholder's family became so hateful to the popular party that not satisfied with expelling their prince, they passed a law forbidding the sale of oranges and carrots, and ordering all persons who grew lilies or marigolds in their gardens to pluck up the plants and destroy them. This prohibition remained in force until 1806, when Napoleon made his brother Louis King of Holland.—London Chronicle.

Sudden Change Many Colds

And Colds are the Starting Point of Serious Diseases.

You Can Make Short Work of a Cold by Using

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

Sudden changes of temperature are fatal in results. The shock to the human system is more than most people can stand, and everywhere you hear sneezing and coughing.

You may be sure that some of these colds will develop into pneumonia or consumption. Others will settle on the kidneys, and result in serious disease or bring on rheumatic or bodily pains.

The danger is in letting colds run on. By beginning promptly with Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine and taking small doses frequently you can keep the cough loose, check the inflammation, and soon rid the system entirely of the cold, and all the many possibilities for evil which it possesses.

Don't think that anything is good enough for a cold. There are lots of cough mixtures. But if you want a standard medicine of proven merit, something that you can depend on in time of sickness, you will be satisfied with Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Children like it. Being composed of simple ingredients, it is particularly suited to their needs. Its enormous sales prove its effectiveness. 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

A LOVELY BABY BOY

This Mother is Quite Enthusiastic Over a Well Known Food.

Mrs. J. W. Pateman, 34 Harriet St., Toronto, in writing about Neave's Food says "When I first knew one of my friends, her baby Jack was eight months old and dying by inches. She had tried three foods because her Jack could not digest milk. At last, I fetched her a tin of Neave's Food. At the end of month, Jack was rapidly gaining flesh and was bright and happy. He is a lovely boy now and she declares Neave's Food saved his life. And it did."

Then I recommended it to a friend on Victoria Avenue. She had a baby 6 months old that was not thriving a bit. She put the baby on Neave's Food and at the end of three months, the baby was twice the size.

I have never seen two bigger, stronger boys than mine for their ages and we owe it all to Neave's Food. I have the utmost faith in Neave's Food."

Mothers and prospective mothers can obtain a free tin of Neave's Food and a valuable book "Hints About Baby" by writing Edwin Utley, 14a Front Street East, Toronto, who is the Canadian agent. For sale by all druggists.

Olds Dogs must be Tied Up

Champ Clark's campaign song "You Gotta Quit Kickin' My Dawg Around," doesn't possess any special appeal for the people of Olds. In the progressive northern town all-puppies have to be tied in their owners' back yards in consequence of a civic edict which is the source of much discussion, favorable and adverse, amongst Olds' ratepayers.

Ald. H. A. Samis, of Olds, informed the News Telegram on Saturday that Olds was the only town in Alberta with the exception of Banff, where such a bylaw was in force, and he says he is going to all in his power as a alderman, to have it repealed. He is of the opinion that the measure is only ridiculously stringent, but also thinks that it is the height of cruelty to keep a dog tied up in a back yard in all kinds of weather and thus deprive it of the exercise which it requires.

"This looks like a small matter," he said. "But it isn't. What a cruel curtailing of canine liberty it would be if every person in Canada were forced to keep his dog tied up in a back yard, and this is what it may amount to if this ridiculous legislation is not stopped at its inception. I certainly can't see the necessity of turning this country into a dog Siberia."

SIR GILBERT PARKER
The Greatest Canadian Novelist.

A tall, well-built man, with dark hair, closely trimmed beard, calm, observant eyes, gentle, and with the ease and polish of a fine stock intensified by the culture that comes from travel—this is Sir Gilbert Parker, Canada's great novelist. In the famous city of Quebec he was born in 1862, the son of an officer in the Royal Artillery and the descendant of many generations of fighting men. It seemed natural that he, too, should woo the cannon, but he had his eye on the cassock and was educated for the church. He was ordained a deacon but his train of thought was switched off the clerical track when he began to lecture on English literature at Trinity College, Toronto.

In 1886 he went to Australia for his health, and as one of the editors of the "Sydney Herald" had a roving commission to study the South Sea Islands and their people. In his three and a half years in Oceania he broadened in mind and grew more sturdy in body; he wrote and lectured, became interested in the stage and with wide-open eyes saw life under new conditions. The literary harvest of this period was an adaptation of Goethe's "Faust," produced in Sydney, another play "The Vendetta," and two books of travel. Then he went to England, and his real literary genius bad its first outcroppings in his works of fiction.

This remarkable short stories "Pierre and his People" opened up the literary dark continent of the Hudson Bay country. They were fresh, crisp, vigorous and virile tales; the field was new, the treatment masterly, the character drawing vital, real and sympathetic, and the open-air atmosphere bracing and tingling as a cold-water plunge. They had the same note of sureness, the same unquestioned revelation of the coming of a great writer, that marked the debut of Kipling in his "Plain Tales from the Hills." Most authors have a special sentimental fondness for their first-born, but Sir Gilbert bought back and suppressed his first novel "The Chief Factor," after more than fifty thousand copies had been sold. Of his twenty or more books, perhaps "The Right of Way" has inspired most discussion and added most to his prestige and popularity.

This famous novelist, journalist, lecturer, poet, dramatist and member of Parliament, lives in London, in the aristocratic section of Belgrave Square, a short street closed at one end, so that the rumble of traffic does not distract his literary work. Success, which turns the heads of mortals, simply gives new poise, ease and confidence. Unaffected, Sir Gilbert carries with an unaffected air.

Entered according to Act of the Parliament of Canada, in the year 1910, by FANNIE M. LOTHROP, of 10, Belgrave Square, London, England.

APPALLING MARINE DISASTER GREATEST IN WORLD'S HISTORY

The Titanic, the Largest Ocean Liner ever Designed, Struck a Submerged Iceberg and went down, Carrying Hundreds of Victims to a Watery Grave

New York.—In the darkness of the night and in water two miles deep the Titanic of the White Star fleet and the greatest of all ocean steamships, sank to the bottom of the sea.

Of the 2200 persons who were aboard the great vessel, when she received her mortal wound in collision with a iceberg more than 1200 went to their death in the shattered hull.

The loss of the Titanic, costliest, most powerful, greatest of all ocean fleet, while speed westward on her maiden voyage takes rank in maritime history as the most terrible of all recorded disasters of the sea.

When the Titanic struck the mountain of ice that sent her to the bottom within four hours after the impact, she was steaming at the rate of 18 knots an hour. The shock also demolished the proud vessel which her builders and her captain had believed nothing could master. Hitting the impenetrable ice mass fairly with her towering boom, the ship was almost rent asunder at the first blow.

Her decks were ripped and torn, her sides and bulkheads were split and shattered as with the hammer of some Titan, from the bow to a point almost amidships. Her upper works and some of her boats were splintered, while a shower of debris from her spars fell upon the decks like giant hail. Though the ship had struck the monster obstruction head-on, as her bow rose clear of the water, smashed to an unrecognizable mass of bent and shivered steel, the vessel listed heavily to port and threatened to turn turtle before the recoil brought what was left of her proud form back to an even keel. The Titanic had forced her giant bulk away up on a submerged spur of the iceberg, a phenomenon which is not infrequent in most disastrous collisions with these giant-like sentinels of the banks. In mounting upon the jagged ice spur, and in sliding back from her position, the ship had torn out many of her bottom plates from the midships section, forward to bow. As a result her compartments, from amidships forward, were speedily flooded. She took in water at a rate that defied the efforts of her pumps and soon began to settle by the head, listing heavily to port and rolling in the trough of the sea. As she became gradually disengaged, many tons of ice which had fallen upon her upper deck contributed to the demolition and intricate confusion. The force of the blow had been so tremendous that the vast ship was started in her every joint and everything movable throughout her superb equipment of luxurious cabins and saloons, was tossed into heaps like discarded junk.

But British seamanship and discipline prevailed and it did what little might be done as well as dauntless men could do it. Every officer and man leaped to his post when Captain Smith, megaphone in hand, bellowed his orders over the rolling bulk that an hour before had been the proudest ship in chivalry. Sufficient order was maintained to launch safely most of the boats, the greater number of which had remained seaworthy despite the ordeal through which they had passed. This work was progressing at once, the women and children being given the preference in the lifeboats.

At first the evidences of panic were well suppressed, though there were many painful scenes as wives and sisters, sweethearts and mothers, parted from their dear ones, whom they were leaving to an unknown fate as they took their allotted places in the boats.

Several times as the compartments rapidly filled, the vessel lurched heavily. Then the cry went up that the ship was sinking and there was a rush for the small boats, that for the first time threatened to transform a brave and orderly scene into one of frenzied panic. As the Titanic settled lower under the weight of the rapidly gaining water in her hold, it was said that some of the boats were stove in before they could have been freed from the davits and that a few were swamped in the effort to launch them.

Within less than an hour after the doomed queen of the ocean fleets had struck, she had settled so fast that the water had flooded her engine rooms and then her wireless apparatus went out of commission. At the same time the falling of her dynamos extinguished her electric lighting system and the mammoth craft was plunged into a Stygian darkness, except for such feeble gleams as were afforded by the use of torches and lanterns. These served only to emphasize the horror of the midnight darkness, made more weird by reflections and shadows cast by the towering masses of Arctic pinnacles, surrounding the stricken ship. In the darkness the work of launching the remaining boats was made more difficult, but all the boats, or nearly all, had cleared the wreck before the Titanic had taken her final plunge into the obscure depths of a grave two miles deep.

PRAIRIE GROUSE DANCE

Distinguished Naturalist Tells of Observations in Saskatchewan.

London.—"Animals and Human Parallels" formed the subject of an address given at the Times Book Club Saloon, by Thompson-Seton. There was a large attendance.

Mr. Seton said that when Darwin first made good the theory that we and the animals were akin, it gave a wonderful impetus to all such studies, and they found that by studying animals they could learn much concerning themselves. In their studies they should always set out with a theory, and they would get results which they had not looked for. Having pointed out that the polygamous and polyandrous animals had no chance with the monogamous, Mr. Seton gave an account of the manner in which wolves when they were in no need of food, and in no danger from stronger enemies, took part in the form of social amusement. Foxes had a similar practice, and gamekeepers could, if they chose, tell them of occasions on which these animals played the game of "King of the castle," in Saskatchewan. The prairie grouse had a spring-time dance, 15 or 20 of them joining in round after round, and making all the noise they could. He had pointed out to him the places where these dances took place, and on one occasion he had watched until the growing daylight revealed him and drove the birds away. All these things had a meaning, and when they got enough of these evidences to put together, he was quite sure they would spell something interesting, and open out the roots of something which could be developed later on.

ATTRACTING MANUFACTURERS

Calgary, Alta.—Not less than 160 wholesale and manufacturing houses now maintain branches in Calgary, sending out some 700 commercial travellers each week throughout the immediately adjacent trade territory.

The city is now offering manufacturers liberal inducements to locate here, in the form of exemption from taxation upon plant and buildings until 1918; also power, light, water, and factory site with trackage facilities at cost. It is pointed out that under this policy many large plants have recently been secured, including the western car shops of the C.P.R. with 5,500 men and the Dominion Bridge company employing 1200 men.

EVERY PRECAUTION TAKEN

Managing Director of Hamburg-American Line Gives Views.

Hamburg.—Albert Ballin, managing director of the Hamburg-American Line, in reply to an inquiry said, referring to the possibility of incorporating further safety devices on large vessels: "The great shipping companies must try to enlarge and improve upon the extensive measures of precaution which they have taken and which in their opinion and in that of the underwriters already are the highest possible security." It will be clear to any reasonable man that the size, speed and other qualities of the unfortunate Titanic had nothing to do with her loss. I am further convinced that the vessel was fully provided with all modern safety appliances. Why they proved insufficient is a question that can only be answered after more extensive reports have been received and examined by experts and the results studied with the greatest care in order to improve as much as possible the present measures of precaution."

INSTRUMENT TO DETECT ICEBERGS

Ottawa.—The disaster to the Titanic has aroused interest in official circles, and in the experiments which have been conducted by Prof. Barnes for the perfection of the device invented by him for the detection of icebergs. It has been decided to send one of the government boats to the icefield area during the summer months. The invention is a thermometric device, which indicates the presence of a field of ice by recording the slightest change in temperature due to the presence of frozen water.

BAD PRAIRIE FIRE.

Herbert, Sask.—A bad prairie fire is raging north of here, and already much damage has been done. Many homesteaders' shacks have been destroyed, while the damage to hay, etc., is unestimated.

One life is reported lost, while several farmers have been more or less injured in their attempts to stay the progress of the flames.

Reports are varied, but the fact that the reflection of the fire can be plainly seen from here denotes that it is of unusual magnitude.

For 1911-1912 the total number of officers and men, active and on the reserve list, in the British Navy is 192,402.

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW LINE

American Concern Build 100 Miles of Edmonton And B.C. Railway.

Edmonton, Alta.—The contract for steel for 100 miles of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia railway has been awarded to an American concern and before the end of June material will be on the ground. The line will be completed and track laid for 100 miles before the end of the construction season of 1912.

In these words Dr. J. K. McLennan, general manager of the road to be constructed under provincial guarantee by J. D. McArthur, intimated that the work on the new Peace river line will be carried on with all possible speed, that the company intended to fulfill their bargain with the province to the letter.

"Canadian mills," said Dr. McLennan, "could not supply the steel this year. If we had to rely upon them it would have been impossible to go ahead with the track laying this year, but rather than that this should take place, the contract went to an American firm. Eighty pound steel will be laid on the new line and the road-bed will be of the same standard as the Grand Trunk Pacific road.

"We expect to start work within the next couple of weeks. The first grading outfit will be ready for operation within a few days time and then we shall go ahead at once. There are a number of contracts to be awarded but we shall in the meantime carry on the work ourselves."

R.N.W.M.P. PROMOTIONS

FIVE NEW INSPECTORS ARE ANNOUNCED TO BE ADDED TO FORCE AT REGINA.

Regina, Sask.—Promotions in the Royal North West Mounted Police have been announced here and the new officers will begin their duties immediately.

Staff Sgt. Gordon, Ottawa, becomes inspector; Sgt. Major Acland, Dawson, Yukon, becomes an inspector; Sgt. Major Spalding, Baden, becomes an inspector.

Appointments to R.N.W.M.P. are: Lieutenant Irwin of the Canadian Militia, Ottawa, and Lieutenant Kneadell, of the Canadian Militia, are made inspectors. Lieut. Irwin has already arrived in Regina to enter upon his new duties.

No word has been received by the R.N.W.M.P. office here as to when the other inspectors will arrive. Lieut. Irwin is a son of Col. Irwin of Ottawa.

C. P. R. OPENS 25 FARMS

J. S. DENNIS IN MAKING ANNOUNCEMENT SAYS TIME HAS COME TO GROW MIXED CROP.

Calgary, Alta.—J. S. Dennis, assistant to the president of the C.P.R., head of the department of natural resources, announces the establishment by the company in the West of 25 farms, operated on a basis of the production of all kinds of grain on small areas, together with dairying, poultry, hog raising, and root crops.

This is a further step in the policy of the company to prove by object lesson that mixed farming is the best style of agriculture for the West.

It is also in line with the policy of the company to operate strictly along land colonization and development lines, instead of purely land selling.

Mr. Dennis states the time has come when Western farmers must develop mixed farming, rather than straight grain growing.

NOVEL INDUSTRIAL CAMPAIGN.

Saskatoon, Sask.—The opportunity is now to be offered to investors to secure an interest in new industries locating in Saskatoon from time to time through the medium of the local industrial league. The idea is that if railways can build miles of trackage on public credit, then small industries should have a chance to do the same on private credit. The amount of the league's subscription in each instance will be in direct proportion to the proposed expenditure of the concern locating here. It is believed that the idea will become very popular with both large and small investors. The league is capitalized at $1,000,000.

HAS ANCIENT BIBLE.

Prince Albert, Sask.—A copy of Martin Luther's celebrated edition of the Bible has been discovered here. The Bible is the property of John Klein, of Melfort, father of J. A. Klein, of this city. It is printed in German and was published in four parts at Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany. Mr. Klein states that the fly leaf of the first part, which is now missing, bore the date 1550. The fly leaves of the other three parts are dated 1560, 1570 and 1573 respectively. If this book is genuine, and there is every reason to assume that it is, it is worth a considerable amount of money.

NORTH PORTAL CUSTOMS.

North Portal—Customs receipts at the port of North Portal for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1912, were $391,523.06. The receipts for the previous fiscal year were $99,759.75. The increase for the last fiscal year was therefore over 200 per cent.

ARRANGE GLOBE TROTTING TOURS.

Montreal.—The Canadian Pacific Railway company has completed arrangements with the Trans-Siberian railway for round the world trips, which will go into effect on May 1. This is the first occasion the Trans-Siberian road has made concessions in this way to other companies.

FROM OLD FRANCE

DELEGATES FROM REPUBLIC WILL ATTEND CHAMPLAIN MONUMENT UNVEILING.

Montreal.—The delegations from France which will attend the unveiling of the Champlain monument at Buff Point, May 3, will be in Montreal May 4 and 5, and on the evening of Saturday, May 4, will be tendered a banquet here under the auspices of the Canadian branch of the "Franco-Amérique," of which Hon. R. Durand is president and Sir H. Montrouge Allan vice-president.

The banquet will be attended by leading representatives of the business, professional, and university life of the city.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON IV.—SECOND QUARTER FOR APRIL 28, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. v. 1-12
Memory Verses, 2-6—Golden Text
Matt. v. 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The lesson to-day and the portion from Luke vi suggested to be read with this and which will be our lesson next week looks somewhat like the same discourse; but, while the subject matter is similar, the words were spoken on two different occasions. This is seen by comparing Matt. v. 1, and Luke vi. 17. In the former we read that "He went up into a mountain and when He was set His disciples came unto Him," and in the latter, "He came down with them and stood in the plain." Both John the Baptist and Jesus had been preaching. "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand" (Matt. iii. 2; iv. 17), and Jesus had been through all Galilee preaching the gospel of the kingdom and healing all manner of sickness and "disease" (iv. 23). In Matt v to vii we have the principles of the kingdom which was then at hand, which was postponed because they rejected it and Him (Luke xii. 11, 12), but which He will set up on the earth at His coming again in glory. The teaching of these chapters does not set before us a life to be lived to procure salvation, but a life that can be lived only by saved people, for it is written, "His disciples came unto Him, and He opened His mouth and taught them (verses 1, 2), so that those who say that this sermon suits them and is gospel enough for them do not know what they are saying, for His first utterance condemns all pride and self-sufficiency. Just as the first of the Ten Commandments lays all low in the dust and rings in the whole world guilty before God (Rom. iii. 19), there is a wonderful analogy between those beatitudes of our lesson and the petitions of the prayer in chapter vi, 9-13, commonly known as the Lord's Prayer, more correctly the disciples' prayer, an epitome of all true prayer. Only such as are saved, who have become children of God by receiving Jesus Christ as their Saviour (John i. 12), can truly say "Our Father who art in Heaven." John viii. 44, applies to all others. Only the poor in spirit can say "hallowed be Thy name," for all others prefer to magnify their own name. All who mourn because of the Bridgeroom's absence and sigh and cry because of the abominations they cannot remove (Matt. ix. 14, 15; Ezek. ix. 4-6) do pray, "Thy kingdom come," and, being meek enough to obey without asking why, they can heartily say, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," that will be the kingdom, and nothing less than that will suffice. These first three petitions refer to His name, His kingdom and His will and suggest to us the father, the Son, who will subdue all things to Himself and then deliver up the kingdom to the Father (I Cor. xv. 24), and the Spirit, by whom alone the will of God can be wrought in us or on the earth. The other four petitions concern us, as also do the beatitudes, because of our relation to God. The hungering and thirsting after righteousness corresponds with "Give us this day our daily bread." The merciful are those who have been forgiven much and are always ready to forgive others. The pure in heart are grieved by the thought of being overcome by temptation and pray not to be led into it, while the children of God who belong to the God of Peace are peace makers and not peace breakers, like the evil one from whom they pray to be delivered. All such may expect to know much of the hatred and power of the adversary, for all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution and be hated by the world which liveth in the wicked one (II Tim. iii. 12; I John v. 19, R. V.; John xv. 18-20; xvii. 14). But, thinking of the kingdom and the power and the glory, and that He has said that all who are persecuted for His sake are happy or blessed people, we can by His grace rejoice and even be exceedingly glad and leap for joy when ill treated for His sake (verse 12; Luke vi. 23). The Spirit, through Peter, tells us that we must not think fiery trials strange things, but rejoice inasmuch as we are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that when His glory shall be revealed we may be glad also with exceeding joy (I Pet. iv. 12, 13). The Spirit, through Paul, says, "The sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us" (Rom. viii. 18). It is only as we by His grace manifest this spirit of the kingdom that we can prove ourselves to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world (verses 13, 14). In His last prayer He made it very clear that He considers us here in His stead, for He said: "I am no more in the world, but these are in the world. As Thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world" (John xvii. 11, 18). Unless the life of Jesus is so manifested in the children of the kingdom (II. Cor. iv. 10, 11) that the world can see Him in us how will they ever learn of Him. These multitudes who read no Bible and go to no place of worship and yet upon whom He has compassion. It is all darkness and chaos with them, and unless the light shall shine upon them through us it will be bad for them and for us who are intrusted with the gospel for them. We must think of those who are still blinded by the God of this world (II. Cor. iv. 4, 6).
